Subject: Microsoft settlement

To Judge Colleen Kollar Kotelly:

I am writing to ask you to overturn the Proposed Final Judgment which, I believe is the term for the current settlement in the Microsoft case. Though not a lawyer or a computer expert, it seems to me that the anti-trust laws of our country have been violated, and yet no significant penalty has been given nor future deterrent set in place. As a home-schooling mother, I have studied along with the children, the emergence of the anti-trust laws in our nation, and see them as important safeguards of the freedom of enterprise and opportunity that we are blessed with as Americans. At this point in history, the smaller software and computer companies need the protection of these already established laws. I am hoping you will overturn the settlement and break up the Microsoft monopoly.

Thank you for your time and attention.
